CHALLENGE GRANT ANNOUNCED UP
TO $250,000 FOR HURRICANE MATTHEW RESPONSE

DONATE TODAY!

The Bob & Renee Parsons Foundation announced today that it will match up to $250,000 in new funds donated to Hope for Haiti for Hurricane Matthew response efforts. A longtime partner of Hope for Haiti, The Bob & Renee Parsons Foundation has supported several education and healthcare programs that target vulnerable populations, including the elderly and children with disabilities. In the wake of the devastation of Hurricane Matthew, they once again are coming to the aid of the Haitian people. "Years ago we pledged our support to the wonderful people of Haiti, and they need that support now more than ever," said American entrepreneur and philanthropist, Bob Parsons. "Hope for Haiti is on the frontlines helping those hit hardest by this unthinkable disaster and we will continue to uphold our commitment to their efforts."

“Our hearts break for the people of Haiti and we feel compelled to do what we can to support relief efforts that are bringing critical supplies, and hope, to so many in need,” said Renee Parsons, businesswoman and philanthropist. All funds matched will go towards Hope for Haiti’s emergency relief efforts in the greater south of Haiti where Hurricane Matthew pummeled through last week. Please consider making a gift TODAY!

Led by Andre Brunache, our Gift-in-Kind Program Officer, the team has focused on distributing relief supplies, including emergency buckets containing critical supplies for a family of five, to our 40 education and healthcare partners in Les Cayes and surrounding areas. One of our longest standing partners, an orphanage located on a small island 45 minutes off the coast of Les Cayes, is featured in a recent story by The Weather Channel. Watch the video below and get a first-hand look at the devastation of Hurricane Matthew and the resilience of the Haitian people.
